DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

The phrase "The present invention" should be removed and the length of the abstract should be shortened to a maximum of 150 words.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hayashi et al.

In regard to claim 1, Hayashi et al. discloses a connecting structure for piping members, characterized in that a first piping member 1 having a channel 12 therein, the first piping member having at least one of a first joint surface 9a on the periphery of which at least one of a first opening in communication with said channel and with a first annular groove (groove in end of 9 that receives o-ring 17 in fig. 5) is provided and a second piping member 1 having a channel 12 therein, the second piping member having at least one of a second joint surface 9b on the periphery of which at least one of a second opening in communication with said channel and with a second annular groove (groove in end of 9 that receives o-ring 17 in fig. 5) is provided are connected tightly sealing through a basically cylindrical sleeve (center most portion of 16), wherein a thinner-walled sleeve (portion of 16 with the grooves for o-rings 17) with flanges on both ends thereof on the periphery of which elastic bodies 17 are fitted is press inserted into said first and second annular grooves.

In regard to claim 2, wherein the first and second piping members are connected together by connecting members 28 for connecting the first and second joint surfaces together or a connecting member for connecting upper or undersides of the first and second piping members.

In regard to claim 3, wherein joint fitting portions 26a, 26b are formed in the first and second joint surfaces of the first and second piping members respectively and the members are connected through joints 25a, 25b fixed into the fitting portions with pins 28.

In regard to claim 4, wherein the first piping member and/or the second piping member are any of a valve.

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Ebskamp et al., Reid, Takada et al., Fukano et al., Huang, Narita et al., Kukas et al. and Obrecht all disclose similar couplings common in the art.
5. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to David E. Bochna whose telephone number is (571) 272-7078. The examiner can normally be reached on 8-5:30 Monday-Thursday and every other Friday.

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Daniel P. Stodola can be reached on (571) 272-7087. The fax phone number for the organization where this application or proceeding is assigned is 571-273-8300.
